NOTES IN SEASON.

R. F. FENNO & Co. have just published a new story by W. Clark Russell entitled "What Cheer?" The romance is laid for the most part in Deal, a small village lying on the eastern coast of England. The characters are sailors and fishermen and their wives and sweethearts.

THE J. B. LIPPINCOTT Co. have added to their already full list of attractive complete editions of the classics "Gil Blas" (in Van Laun's version), in four well-printed sixteenmo volumes; also a six-volume edition of Lane's translation of the "Arabian Nights," with a brief introduction by Joseph Jacobs and illustrations by Frank Brangwyn, which give a special stamp to this beautiful edition.

D. APPLETON & Co. will publish at once in the Story of the West Series, edited by Ripley Hitchcock, an important work on mines by Charles Howard Shinn. While the book, in accordance with the plan of this successful series, has a lasting historical value, it will be found to possess a peculiar interest at the present time. They have also nearly ready an elaborately illustrated work entitled "Driving for Pleasure, or, the harness stable and its appointments," by Francis T. Underhill. The volume will take rank both as the recognized authority and also as one of the most elaborately illustrated and beautiful of the books dealing in any way with the horse. As a judge at the New York and other horse shows for many years, Mr. Underhill's high rank as an authority has been universally recognized.

HARPER & BROTHERS will shortly publish a number of notable books. They include "George Washington," an historical biography, by Prof. Woodrow Wilson; "Naval Actions of the War of 1812," by James Barnes, with numerous full-page colored illustrations by Carlton T. Chapman; "The Ship's Company and Other Ship's People," studies of sea-life, by Lieut. J. D. Jerrold-Kelley; "A Virginia Cavalier," in which Molly Elliot Seawell describes the boyhood and youth of Washington; and "The Square of Sevens," a study of "cartomancy," or gypsy fortune-telling, by E. Irenæus Stevenson. The array of promised fiction is attractive, embracing "Alone in China," a series of graphic story-pictures of Chinese life, by Julian Ralph; "Frances Waldeaux," a new novel by Mrs. Rebecca Harding Davis; "In the Old Herrick House, and other stories," by Ellen Douglas Deland; "An Elephant's Track, and other stories," by Mrs. M. E. M. Davis; "Solomon Crow's Christmas Pockets," by Ruth McEnery Stuart; "Tomalyn's Quest," a romance of adventure in the East, by G. B. Burgin; and that annual treasure-house of good things for children, the bound volume of Harper's Round Table for 1896.

G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS have just ready "Parakites," by Gilbert Totten Woglom, a treatise on the making and flying of tailless kites for scientific purposes and for amusement, with many illustrations for making clear the necessarily technical descriptions of manufacture. "The Final War," by Louis Tracy, is a novel with a purpose, which is to prove that England and America will at any price keep the world from going to war, and so educate the world that war will be an impossibility. The author has taken the whole world as his theme and its chief citizens as his characters. The second volume of "American Orations" includes speeches by Rufus King, Wendell Phillips, William Pinkney, John Quincy Adams, John C. Calhoun, Henry Clay, Daniel Webster, and others; and "Echoes from the Mountains" is a book of poems by C. E. D. Phelps. For younger readers there is a book about Greece entitled "The Long Walls," in which John Alden, former member of the American School at Athens, and Elbridge S. Brooks tell a story of digging and discovery of temples and treasure. "The Young Voyagers, or, the boy-hunters of the north," by Captain Reid, is fully illustrated, and of course pleasurably exciting.

WEEKLY RECORD OF NEW PUBLICATIONS.*

The abbreviations are usually self-explanatory. c. after the date indicates that the book is copyrighted; if the copyright date differs from the imprint date, the year of copyright is added. Books of foreign origin of which the edition (annotated, illustrated, etc. is entered as copyright, are marked c. ed.; translations, c. tr.; n. p., in place of price, indicates that the publisher makes no price, either net or retail, and quotes prices to the trade only upon application.

A colon after initial designates the most usual given name, as: A: Augustus; B: Benjamin; C: Charles; D: David; E: Edward; F: Frederic; G: George; H: Henry; I: Isaac; J: John; L: Louis; N: Nicholas; P: Peter; R: Richard; S: Samuel; T: Thomas; W: William.

Sizes are designated as follows: F. (folio: over 30 centimeters high); Q. (4to: under 30 cm.); O. (8vo: 25 cm.); D. (12mo: 20 cm.); S. (16mo: 17½ cm.); T. (24mo: 15 cm.); Tt. (32mo: 12½ cm.); Fe. 48mo: 10 cm.). Sq., obl., nar., designate square, oblong, narrow books of these heights.

Abbott, Rev. Lyman, Brown, Rev. Francis, Matheson, Rev. G:, [and others.] Prophets of the Christian faith. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1896. 241 p. 12°, cl., $1.25. [3708

Adams, W: T:, ["Oliver Optic," pseud.] On the staff. Bost., Lee & Shepard, 1896. c. 3–474 p. il. D. (The blue and the gray—on land ser., no. 4.) cl., $1.50. [3709

Dick Lyon, the hero of the preceding volumes, is carried in his new position of staff officer into fresh fields and amid scenes of a stirring nature. The long and rapid march of the army under Buell to the assistance of Grant at Shiloh, the desperate conflict and final victory of Pittsburg Landing, and the march to and the siege of Corinth are all fully described.

Aldrich, T: Bailey. Friar Jerome's beautiful book; with decorations by W. S. Hadaway. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1896. c. '65–'96. unp. il. nar. O. leath., $1.50. Édition de luxe (limited to 250 copies), parchment, net, $5. [3710

One of the most exquisite of Mr. Aldrich's longer poems. Instead of employing the ordinary methods of illustration, the poem is treated somewhat in the style of a missal, as the subject suggests. Printed in black and red, and bound in antique leather, handsomely stamped.

Allen, W: Frances, and Greenough, Ja. Bradstreet. Allen and Greenough's shorter Latin grammar for schools and academies, condensed and rev. by Ja. Bradstreet Greenough, assisted by Albert A. Howard. Bost., Ginn & Co., 1896. 11+371 p. D. cl., $1.04. [3711

American catalogue, 1890–1895; pt. 4, Subject alphabet. Government publications: Smiths. Inst.—War Dept. N. Y., Office of The Publishers' Weekly, 1896. c. 251+60 p. Q. pap., (for complete work,) in sheets, $12.50; hf. leath., $15. [3712

Contains the whole of the subject alphabet, and the remainder of the list of government publications from Smiths. Inst.—War Dept. The other appendixes, viz., State publications, Publications of societies, and Publications in series, with title-pages, prefaces, etc., will be issued later.

Arthur, Timothy Shay. Ten nights in a bar-room. N. Y., J. S. Ogilvie Pub. Co., 1896. 379 p. 12°, pap., 25 c. [3713

Bailey, Liberty Hyde. The survival of the unlike: a collection of evolution essays suggested by the study of domestic plants. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1896. 515 p. 12°, buckram, $2. [3714

Balfour, Marie Clothilde. Maris Stella. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1896. c. 3+202 p. S. (Keynotes ser., no. 27.) cl., $1. [3715

Maris Stella (star of the sea) was the name given a Madonna washed ashore on the coast of a fishing village, which placed in a chapel became the presiding deity of the simple fisher-folk. A poetical story is told of the misunderstanding between a rough fisherman and his respectable bourgeoise wife, whose ideas of conventionality conflict with his looser morals. After losing her husband by her hardness she devotes her life to the care of his illegitimate child, whom she has rendered imbecile by striking him in anger.

Bangs, J: Kendrick. A rebellious heroine: a story; il. by W. T. Smedley. N. Y., Harper, 1896. c. 5+225 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3716

Stuart Harley, a writer of the realistic school, determines to build a story entirely true to life, of which Miss Marguerite Andrews shall be the heroine. The general plot is that she shall be wooed by one man and won by another. Miss Andrews rebels at the very start and misses the steamship on which the wooing was to have been begun. Harley then lays out another plan by which another suitor is to pay his court at Newport. Here the heroine again refuses to marry a man she does not love, simply for the sake of furnishing chapters for Harley's realistic story, and the tale ends by Harley's marrying his rebellious heroine himself.

Bartlett, J: A new and complete concordance or verbal index to words, phrases, and passages in the dramatic works of Shakespeare; with a supplementary concordance to the poems. New ed. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1896. 1910 p. 4°, cl., net, $7.50. [3717

Bellar, Maude Florence. Santa Claus's new castle; il. by Dixie Selden. Columbus, O., Nitschke Bros., 1896. 63 p. O. hf. cl., $1. [3718

A little Christmas story, for very young people, in which there is an appeal that poor children may not be forgotten at this time.

Benson, E: F. Limitations: a novel. N. Y., Harper, 1896. c. 2+313 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3719

Two Cambridge students hold many conversations in their college rooms. One is plodding and studying for the university, the other is a lazy sculptor, full of poetry and life. The latter drifts to Athens, and there awakes to the importance of the trust he has received in his great talent. But he marries the sister of his old chum, a woman devoted to church and ritualism, who makes no allowance for the demands of his art. They lose all, and the sculptor finds he must sacrifice his ideas as a sculptor to his duties as husband and father. The "limitations" of character and circumstances set bounds to his highest possibilities.

Bevier, L:, jr. A French grammar; with exercises by T: Logie. N. Y., H: Holt & Co., 1896. c. 11+341 p. D. hf. leath., net, $1. [3720

A grammar for the use of the older students in fitting schools and for colleges, presenting the facts of the language with reasonable fulness and with the greatest possible fidelity to scientific truth. The exercises are from the first arranged to secure continuity of thought and as much of living interest as possible.

Brooks, Elbridge Streeter, and Alden, J: The long walls: an American boy's adventures in Greece; a story of digging and discovery, temples and treasure; il. by G: Foster Barnes. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1896. c. 6+328 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [3721

Van Worthington, a bright, inquisitive young fellow of fifteen, hailing from New York, is prescribed a sea voyage after a severe attack of typhoid fever. He takes the Mediterranean steamer sailing from New York on the ten weeks' excursion, and enjoys immensely all the "sights" at the various stopping-

Cook, Mrs. Mabel Collins. The star sapphire. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1896. c. 3-311 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3732

A young and talented woman, leading an aimless life in English society, while visiting at the house of a popular London man-about-town learns the secret of his married life. She is strong and helpful, and in his mind she becomes associated with the star sapphire, a cold stone only stirred at times in certain light to great brilliancy. The problem of hereditary inebriety is dealt with, and a surgical hospital is graphically sketched. A great preacher of temperance is a telling influence in the sad story.

Cooper, Ja. Fenimore. Leather stocking tales. New ed. from new pl., with introd. by Brander Matthews; with 15 photogravure il. by Frank T. Merrill, and rubricated title-pages. N. Y., T: Y. Crowell & Co., 1896. c. 5 v. D. cl., per set, $7.50; hf. cf., per set, $15. [3733

De Maupassant—La peur, La main, Garçon, Un bock! En voyage, Apparition, Les idées du Colonel, La parure, and Tombouctou. Prof. Cameron has written interesting and appreciative essays on the two authors and furnished all the annotation necessary for pupils advanced enough to read their works.

Dabney, Julia P. Little daughter of the sun. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1896. c. 3-209 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [3736

The story has its scene in Teneriffe, Canary Islands, about 1870. Amparo, the "daughter of the sun," comes there, a beautiful blond baby, in the care of Martin Martinez, a little shoemaker, who is supposed to be her father. There is an old couple in the story, the Doña Elena and Don Francisco, who have lived to be queer and lonely, who had been betrothed in youth, their marriage for some mysterious reason having been broken. To Don Francisco comes a nephew from South America, and Doña Elena discovers that Amparo is the daughter of her sister, who had married imprudently. These young people after awhile fall in love and reunite the elderly lovers.

Dana, Mrs. Frances Theodora, [Mrs. W: Starr Dana.] Plants and their children; il. by Alice Josephine Smith. N. Y., American Book Co., [1896.] c. 272 p. D. cl., 65 c. [3737

This new edition contains five maps and plans, and sixty-two full-page illustrations from Roman photographs.

Erckmann, Emile, and Chatrian, Alex. Le conscrit de 1813; abridged and ed. with notes and vocabulary by O. B. Super. Bost., D. C. Heath & Co., 1896. c. 6+210 p. D. (Heath's modern language ser.) cl., 65 c. [3739

Fearless (A) investigator. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1896. c. 3-353 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3740

A young man, recovering from typhoid fever, is invited to spend the days of convalescence in the country with friends devoted to new theories and speculations. Spiritualism, telepathy, materializing and dematerializing of personality are all represented by members of the house party. The invalid has a relapse, and his fearless investigations are so told as to leave the reader in doubt whether they are the ravings of fever or real occurrences.

Field, E: Revolutionary defences in Rhode Island: an historical account of the fortifications and beacons erected during the American Revolution; with muster-rolls of the companies stationed along the shores of Narragansett Bay. Providence, R. I., Preston & Rounds, 1896. 13+161 p. maps, plans, il. 8°, cl., net, $2.25. [3741

Frost, W: H: The court of King Arthur: stories from the land of the Round Table; il. by Svdney Richmond Burleigh. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1896. c. 12+302 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [3742

The same little girl, now somewhat older, to whom Mr. Frost told his charming Wagner stories is the central figure in this story-book. Helen and the author make visits together to the different places connected with the Arthurian romances by history or legend, and Mr. Frost relates to her the Round Table tales on their sites.

Gerhard, W: Paul. Theatre fires and panics; their causes and prevention. N. Y., J: Wiley & Sons, 1896. c. 7+175 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3743

This little book is simply, as its title implies, a discussion of the causes and the prevention of fires and panics in theatres. A few years ago the writer prepared several essays on the subject, which are produced substantially as originally given. A list of the literature bearing upon the subject covers elevenpages.

Gibson, C: Dana, Pictures of people. N. Y., R. H. Russell & Son, [De Witt Pub. House,] 1896. c. unp. obl. Q. bds., $5. Edition de luxe, $10. [3744

Contains eighty-five of Mr. Gibson's latest drawings, including the studies of English society recently exhibited at the Fine Art Society in London.

Gluck, Ja. Fraser, and Becker, August. The law of receivers of corporations, including national banks, illustrated by abstracts of the facts of and excerpts from the opinions in leading cases. 2d ed. N. Y. and Alb., Banks & Bros., 1896. c. 61+705 p. O. shp., $6. [3745

Green, W: H: Celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the appointment of Professor William Henry Green as an instructor in Princeton Theological Seminary, May 5, 1896. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1896. 4+193 p. por. O. cl., net, $1.50. [3746

Includes the addresses made on the occasion and the after-dinner speeches. A bibliography of the published writings of Prof. Green, prepared by the Rev. Jos. H. Dulles, covers thirteen pages.

Grimm, Herman. Life of Michael Angelo; tr. by Fanny Eliz. Bunnett. New ed., with additions, il. with photogravure pl. from works of art. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1896. c. 2 v., 14+558; 7+536 p. por. O. cl., $6; hf. levant mor., $12. [3747

A new holiday edition of a well-known classic, with forty photographic plates from famous paintings and sculptures, and with a steel portrait of Michael Angelo. Richly bound in claret-colored cloth with gold stampings and slip covers of the same color.

Halm, F:, [pseud. for Eligius Francis Joseph, Baron von Münch-Bellinghausen.] Ingomar, the barbarian: a play in five acts; adapted from F: Halm's Der sohn der wildniss, by Maria Lovell; printed by permission from the prompt-book of Julia Marlowe Taber. Bost., Walter H. Baker & Co., 1896. c. 64 p. D. (William Warren's ed. of standard plays.) pap., 15 c. [3748

Hardy, T: Under the greenwood tree: a rural painting of the Dutch school; with an etching by H. Macbeth-Raeburn. [New uniform ed.] N. Y., Harper, 1896. c 5+273 p. map, D. cl., $1.50. [3749

Harris, Joel Chandler, ["Uncle Remus," pseud.] Stories of Georgia. N. Y., American Book Co., 1896. c. 315 p. D. cl , 80 c. [3750

Some twenty-seven stories founded upon events and characters in the history of Georgia. The stories and characterizations have been grouped together so as to form a series of connecting links in the rise and progress of Georgia. The stories are not only instructive but most entertaining, and have never before been brought together.

Harris, S:, D.D. God the creator and lord of all. N. Y., C: Scribner's Sons, 1896. c. 2 v., 10+579; 7+576 p. O. cl., net, $5. [3751

Dr. Harris is professor of systematic theology in Yale University. His work rests on the principle "that the idea of God is not attained by mere subjective thinking, but that God is known through his action, revealing himself in the constitution and evolution of the universe, and in the constitution and history of man issuing in Christ, and in the Holy Spirit bringing gracious, divine influence on men."

Hawley, T: D. Infallible logic: a visible and automatic system of reasoning. Chic., T: D. Hawley, 1896. 700 p. 8°, shp., net, $5. [3752

Hickcox, J. H., and Bowker, R: R., comps. United States government publications, July 1, 1890–June 30, 1895; comp. under the editorial direction of R: R. Bowker by J. H. Y., Office of The Publishers' Weekly, 1896. c. 60 p. pap., net, $2. [3753

Hickenlooper, A. Fuel gas for Cincinnati. [Cin., O., The Robert Clarke Co.,] 1896. 184 p. O. pap., 50 c. [3754

A summary of the chemical composition and heating values of the various gases now known to science; a comparative estimate of the calorific values of gaseous and solid fuels for industrial and manufacturing purposes; the "coke-oven" or "by-product" system fully explained and the purposes of its promoters disclosed; writer claims that no "new process" for the manufacture of gas is needed to bring its use for domestic purposes within the reach of the many.

Hingst, Adolphine Charlotte, and Ruskay, Esther J. Rhymes and songs for my little ones; il. by G: W. Picknell. Bost., Lothrop Pub. Co., [1896.] 3-74 p. sq. O. cl., $1.50. [3755

A prettily illustrated collection of rhymes for the nursery or kindergarten.

Hopkins, Tighe. Kilmainham memories: the story of the greatest political crime of the century; with many new and important details. 2d ed. N. Y., Ward, Lock & Co., Ltd., 1896. 3–96 p. pors. il. D. cl., 60 c.; pap., 40 c. [3756

In 1881 Thomas Henry Burke, the permanent Under Secretary for Ireland, and Lord Frederick Cavendish, Chief Secretary, were murdered in Phœnix Park, Dublin. This is a description of Kilmainham Prison, Dublin, at the time that the suspected murderers were confined there. Many pictures make clear the ghastly details. They are reproduced from photographs, and the portraits of all the actors connected with the tragedy are duplicates of the original set in the Kilmainham Prison.

Howells, W: Dean. Impressions and experiences. N. Y., Harper, 1896. c. 2+281 p. il. D. cl., $1.50. [3757

These papers are largely autobiographical. Mr. Howells probably gives the closest glimpse into his own character and feelings in the essay on the "Tribulations of a cheerful giver," in which he tells of a number of his experiences with beggars and alms-seekers of all classes. The opening chapters of the book tell of the author's boyhood experiences in his father's printing-office, and shed a strong light upon the influences which have had so much to do with the shaping of his later career. These are the "Experiences." In the papers that come under the head of "Impressions" Mr. Howells talks mostly of every-day sights and scenes in New York.

Hugo, Victor. The letters of Victor Hugo to his family, to Sainte-Beuve and others; ed. by Paul Meurice. Bost., Houghton, Mifflin & Co., 1896. c. 3+277 p. por. il. O. cl., $3. [3758

The first series of Victor Hugo's letters; a second series will be issued in a few months. The first series contains (1) his letters, while a student in Paris, to his father; (2) letters to his young wife; (3) letters to various persons; (4) an important and deeply interesting series of about fifty letters to Sainte-Beuve, which have a unique kind of romantic attraction from the fact that the distinguished critic was in love with Madame Hugo; (5) a charming set of letters to his children, Leopoldine and Charles; and (6) in an appendix several letters to M. Pinaud, secretary to the Académie des Jeux Floraux, Toulouse.

Interstate Commerce Commission. Reports, v. 5. Decisions on interstate commerce rendered by the federal and state courts. Rochester, N. Y., The Lawyers' Co-op. Pub. Co., 1896. c. 13+717 p. O. shp., $5. [3759

Irving, Washington. Bracebridge Hall; or, the humorists. Surrey ed. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1896. c. 2 v., il. O. cl., $6; ¾ levant, $12. [3760

Uniform in general style with the Buckthorne edition of "Tales of a traveller." This edition is printed from entirely new plates. It is embellished with borders printed in colors, especially designed by Margaret Armstrong. The numerous full-page photogravure illustrations have been specially prepared for the edition by Church, Reinhart, and Sandham.

Jackson, C: F. Mechanical drawing. Phil., J. B. Lippincott Co., 1896. c. 2+63 p. 20 pl. obl. S. buckram, $1.50. [3761

Prepared for the use of students in mechanical and architectural drawing; the result of teaching these branches for ten years. The subject of projections is treated fully, beginning with the simple problems and advancing step by step in regular order to those more complex.

James, H: The other house. N. Y., The Macmillan Co., 1896. c. 388 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3762

A dying wife obtains a promise from her husband that he will not marry again while her baby lives. On this thread of plot and its consequences the author elaborates in sentences full of epigrams and worldly wisdom, spoken by the inmates and visitors of "the other house." The attraction of the characters to one another and the motives which trouble the course of true love are ingeniously planned.

Johnston, Alex., ed. American orations: studies in American political history; ed. with introds. by Alex. Johnston; re-edited with historical and textual notes by Ja. Albert Woodburn. [New rev. ed.] In 4 v. V. 2. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1896. 7+433 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3763

See notice of whole work, "Weekly Record," P. W., May 16, 1896, [1268.] This volume, the second of the series, is devoted exclusively to the anti-slavery struggle, and embraces orations by Rufus King, W: Pinkney, Wendell Phillips, J: Quincy Adams, J: C. Calhoun, Daniel Webster, H: Clay, and C: Sumner.

Liljencrantz, Ottilie A. The scrape that Jack built. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1896. c. 6-248 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [3772

Recounts the jolly doings of a happy company of boys and girls. The ambition of the girls to assist a deserving family is heartily seconded by the boys, and the account of their efforts in this work will be found entertaining and stimulating to readers of their own age.

Locke, Clinton, D.D. The age of the great western schism. N. Y., The Christian Literature Co., 1896. 10+314 p. 12°, (Epochs of church history ser., no. 8.) cl., $3. [3773

Lothrop, Mrs. Harriet Mulford, ["Margaret Sidney," pseud.] The gingham bag: the tale of an heirloom. Bost., Lothrop Pub. Co., [1896.] c. 3-369 p. il. D. cl., $1.25. [3774

The story of a New England family at the beginning of the century. The gingham bag is an ugly heirloom that the young people hated, as they were obliged to carry their books in it to school. It is found to be the repository of their grandmother's dying request, which materially changes the family fortunes. The severity with which young people were treated in those days has many amusing illustrations. The characters are very real; an old ex-slave, "Aunt Jinny," and her grandchild "Delphy" being particularly so.

McClain, Emlin. A selection of cases on the law of carriers of goods and of passengers. 2d ed. Bost., Little, Brown & Co., 1896. c. 11+744 p. O. shp., $6. [3775

Macleod, Fiona. Green fire: a romance. N. Y., Harper, 1896. c. 5+287 p. D. cl., $1.25. [3776

The green fire of life burned in the hearts of Annaik and Inys and their cousin Alan de Kereval. Both the girls loved Alan and he loved Inys. From his nineteenth to his twenty-fifth year he studied astronomy in Paris, and it made a poet of him instead of a scientist. Then the mystery of his birth was revealed. He married Inys and they lived in the Hebrides. The idyllic story is full of the old superstitions and legends of Celtic tradition. Close to the heart of nature these lovers learn "to live and love, and be full of a deep joy, a glad content, and abiding hope." And Alan learned this in the stars.

Nicholson, Claude. Ugly idol: a development. Bost., Roberts Bros., [1896.] c. 3-229 p. S. (Keynotes ser., no. 28.) cl., $1. [3782

Lester, a famous artist, is pampered and adored by a foolish sister. His art is everything to him, all else in life being sacrificed to it. He plays upon the affections of a beautiful girl, that he may bring into her face the expressions he is seeking for his studies. When driven to suicide by his methods he rejoices to see in her face the look of despair he has in vain tried to infuse in his latest picture, and hurries gleefully back to his study, leaving her to sink beneath the water. Another character is Gilbert Strode, who sacrifices his happiness and career to a selfish, brutal old father.

Owen, Wilber A. Questions and answers on common law pleading; prepared with especial reference to the text of Stephen on pleading, and with the aid of Chitty's Gould's, and McKelvie's works on pleading. Wash., D. C., [published by the author, Wilber A. Owen,] 1896. c. 82 p. S. pap., $1. [3783

A richly illustrated life of Shakespeare from photographs made of his home and its contents still to be seen at Stratford, with views of the surrounding scenery. Also pictures of many memorials, statue busts, etc., erected to him throughout England.

Watson, Rev. J: Maclaren, ["Ian Maclaren," pseud.] Kate Carnegie. N. Y., Dodd, Mead & Co., 1896. c. '95, '96. 10+358 p. por. il. D. cl., $1.50. [3817

Kate Carnegie, early left motherless and brought up the darling of her father's regiment in India, returns with him upon his retirement to the old family home in rural Scotland. Thrown among the healthy, natural men and the devoted holy women of her home, she develops an unsuspected element in her enthusiastic, independent character. Several ministers of various character are described, and the author of "The bonny brier-bush" again makes clear how true religion is practical and for every day living regardless of forms and ceremonies.

Wenzell, Albert B. In Vanity Fair: drawings. N. Y., R. H. Russell & Son, [De Witt Pub. House,] 1896. c. unp. obl. Q. bds., $5. [3818

Seventy half-tone reproductions of Mr. Wenzell's well-known wash-drawings of society scenes, many of them done especially for this book. Includes scenes at the opera, the horse-show, and the theatres, as well as pictures of riding, driving, and outdoor life.

Wesselhoeft, Lily F. Jerry the blunderer: a fable for children; il. from photographs taken from life. Bost., Roberts Bros., 1896. c. 6–255 p. D. cl., $1.50. [3819

The story of an Irish terrier, "Jerry" by name, a young dog that meant well, but always managed to do the wrong thing. His companions are another dog named "Business," a Maltese cat called "Sister," and her kittens called "Muff" and "Puff" and their brother "Tige," a coon and several other animals. They all talk among themselves, criticising each other and the family they live with. The story is designed to convey moral lessons to children in the same way as "Sparrow the tramp" and the author's other books.

Willard, Eleanor Withev, comp. Children's singing games; il. and arr. by Eleanor Withey Willard. N. Y., F: A. Stokes Co., [1896.] c. '95. 3–67 p. il. sq. O. cl., $1.25. [3820

The many singing games that all children in all ages and in all countries have amused themselves with are described, their origin traced, and the words and the music long wedded to them given. The familiar games of "London bridge," "Soldier, soldier, will you marry me?" "Oats, pease, beans," "Little Sallie Waters," and about eight other, make up the book, with many graceful illustrations of children at play by Miss Willard. A useful book for the kindergarten.

Witthaus, R. A., M.D., Becker, Tracy, C., [and others.] Medical jurisprudence, forensic medicine, and toxicology. In 4 v. V. 3 and 4. N. Y., W: Wood & Co., 1896. c. 8°, cl., subs., ea., $4; shp. or leath., ea., $6. [3821

Woglom, Gilbert Totten. Parakites: a treatise on the making and flying of tailless kites for scientific purposes and for recreation. N. Y., G: P. Putnam's Sons, 1896. c. 15+91 p. il. O. cl., net, $1.75. [3822

The purpose of this treatise is to place before the public the result of the investigations and of the practical experience of the writer in the designing and the construction of tailless kites, or "parakites," and in the perfection of methods for the flying of these in various conditions of the atmosphere.

Wolf, Emma. The joy of life. Chic., A. C. McClurg & Co., 1896. c. 3–253 p. D. cl., $1. [3823

A novel by the author of "Other things being equal." The scene is in a growing modern western city. The study of the two brothers—heroes of the story—as different as magnetic poles and in love with the same girl, forms the theme of the plot.

The Publishers' Weekly.

FOUNDED BY F. LEYPOLDT.

OCTOBER 31, 1896.

The editor does not hold himself responsible for the views expressed in contributed articles or communications. Publishers are requested to furnish title-page proofs and advance information of books forthcoming, both for entry in the lists and for descriptive mention. An early copy of each book published should be forwarded, as it is of the utmost importance that the entries of books be made as promptly and as perfectly as possible. In many cases booksellers depend on the WEEKLY solely for their information. The Record of New Publications of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY is the material of "The American Catalogue" and so forms the basis of all trade bibliography in the United States.

"I hold every man a debtor to his profession, from the which, as men do of course seek to receive countenance and profit, so ought they of duty to endeavor themselves by way of amends to be a help and an ornament thereunto."—LORD BACON.

BUSINESS AND POLITICS.

IT is often lamented, and with too much reason, that the machinery of trade should be interrupted and business thrown out of gear in this country every four years, if not every two years or in many of our cities each year, by the excitement and distractions of national, state, and municipal elections. On the other hand, some political philosophers consider that the national elections, at least, should not come less often than they do, because in them they see the great means of the political education of the American people. And political education is certainly a most important part of the education of the citizen, even though he gets it in cyclone fashion, rather than in the quieter drill of the school-house or of every-day life.

For some years past there has, however, been another reason than mere excitement why business has been seriously affected by presidential elections. It is perhaps more affected in this country by elections than in any other country which has in name or in fact a popular form of government, where the will of the people is registered at general elections, despite the strong sense of the stability of our institutions which the American people have. This reason is the fact that economic questions, which are essentially business questions, have been the paramount issue in many of the recent campaigns. Particularly this year political affairs turn on an issue of business, a vital issue which affects not only the finances of the nation but the pocket and the purchasing power of every person in the nation. It is absurd to say that there are not honest people on both sides, although there are undoubtedly people on each side who are not honest in their convictions. One side believes that the defeat of its candidate will result in the breaking down of our monetary system, the destruction of confidence, panic, and as near an approach to general bankruptcy as is possible in a country naturally and essentially so prosperous as our own. For it must not be forgotten that even under the most adverse circumstances, crops must be raised, manufactures will go on, and railroads will still be run—however much the market and the amount of work may be limited. The other side believes that the present condition of things, because of the present monetary system, is disadvantageous in the highest degree to the great producing and manufacturing classes, on whose prosperity, in fact, the whole prosperity of the country depends. Both sides are, of course, willing to prophesy—and to absolutely different result.

In an election turning on a business issue, business men and every earner of money, who is in that sense a business man, should exercise their individual judgment as keenly and as thoroughly as they would in deciding their private business affairs. It is only in this way that the best judgment of the people can be registered; and although the best judgment of individuals does not and never will agree, the American people long since made up their mind that after an election those who were defeated would hope for the best and not be sorry if their predictions of woe proved unfounded.

It is these two facts, that the country is a wealth-producing country under the most adverse circumstances, and that the American people are ready to accept the general verdict promptly on the day after election and proceed to make the best of it, that always give hope for the future. Business operations and private purchases have been suspended in an unusual degree this year, pending the result of the election. How many books the millions of people in this country will buy for their private or their public libraries or for their Christmas presents, will depend, doubtless, on the result of the Tuesday's vote, and, so far as each is concerned, on the individual view the individual buyer takes of the effect of the vote. But it is worthy of note that the publishing trade have shown their faith this year in the permanence of their market by putting forth an array of publications scarcely less than in the year past and in previous years, and we trust the retail trade, as soon as the election is over, will set about their part of the work in a cheerful and enterprising spirit and be ready to give second orders as soon after election day and as long before Christmas as possible. And if prosperity follows as the result of the election, so much the better for the book trade, which peculiarly must look to the increase of annual profits for the increase of its trade.

INTERNATIONAL BIBLIOGRAPHY.

L'ASSOCIAZIONE TIPOGRAFICO-LIBRARIA ITALIANO, to which almost all the publishers of Italy belong, in connection with its annual meeting in Florence last month, invited the Italian bibliographers to be present and discuss the question whether the librarians and publishers of Italy should join the Brussels Conference and lend their assistance to the proposed international bibliography, and especially whether they should agree to the acceptance of the Dewey decimal classification system in the compiling of the great work. The meeting, over which P. Vallardi and P. Barbéra presided, was attended by nearly one hundred Italian bibliographers and by two representatives of the Institut-International de bibliographie. Professor Fumagalli made a detailed report of the phases of the discussion now pending regarding the Dewey system, and practically considered its advantages and disadvantages. The great preparatory work of the Brussels Institute was warmly commended, the necessity for an exhaustive study of the subject was recognized, and it was decided to elect a committee to make such study, keeping in mind especially the needs of scholars, librarians, and the book trade.

HARPER & BROTHERS BECOME A STOCK COMPANY.

THE firm of Harper & Brothers has become a stock company. The certificate of the organization was filed on the 27th inst. with the Secretary of State, at Albany, N. Y., the corporators named in the papers being Horatio R. Harper, Henry Sleeper Harper, and James Harper. The corporation is capitalized at $2,000,000.

The change will in no way affect the business policy, the membership, or the name of the firm. In fact, the change was made in order to insure the perpetuation of the name in connection with the business, so that it may remain unaffected by any changes that may take place in the ownership in the future. An election of officers and Board of Directors will take place at an early date. All the members of the present firm belong to the third generation of the founders with the exception of the senior member, John W. Harper, a son of the original John Harper, and James Thorne Harper, son of James Harper, one of the founders of the house. Those in the corporation at the present time are John W. Harper, J. Henry Harper, John Harper, James Thorne Harper, Henry Sleeper Harper, Horatio R. Harper, and James Harper.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS' DAY.

THE national undertaking comprised in the "Commercial Travellers' Fair," to be held December 15–28, in Madison Square Garden, New York, with the aim of raising $150,000 to complete the National Home for indigent commercial travellers and their dependent wives, widows, and children at Binghamton, N. Y., is to be benefited by a commercial travellers' day. A. B. de Freece, director of the fair, has proposed that on Tuesday, December 1, in every city the leading hotels, theatres, and stores devote a percentage of the day's receipts to the Fair Home Building Fund.

HIRED READERS.

"VISITORS to the Astor Library have observed that certain persons appear there with great regularity, and two or three faces seem to be as permanent a feature of the place as the busts and white columns," says the New York Sun. "These regulars are there at all hours of the day and at all seasons of the year. One man in particular seems to spend all his time within the walls of the library.

"A man whose work on a certain subject took him regularly to the library made an effort to see what subject was absorbing one visitor whom he had noticed at work whenever he had been in the library during the two years preceding. For a month he observed the man, and found that during that time the man had been reading industriously volumes relating to four different subjects, and taking copious notes from them. He did not look like a man who was reading for the purpose of general cultivation, and the books he had been using varied as widely in subject as the history of the Spanish drama and the Chinese metaphysics.

"The hopelessness of learning anything about the man's occupation from his own observation led the interested inquirer to ask one of the library officials who the regular visitor was. Then he learned that the man, like many of the others he had often noticed at work in the library, was a regular reader employed to do for others the reading and investigating necessary for particular work. Usually this man and others like him are called upon to dig out only the points relating to certain phases of a subject, but often their work extends over a much wider range. They are known to the officials of the library, and in this way they are brought into contact with persons who are looking about for somebody to undertake the required labor of reference and reading."

BIBLIOGRAPHICAL NOTES.

ULRICO HOEPLI, of Milan, has just issued a handsomely printed catalogue of books published by his firm between 1872 and 1896. It is arranged chronologically and alphabetically, and has an alphabetical as well as a classified subject index. It is preceded by a letter from Signor Hoepli himself, and an introduction by Gaetano Negri. An interesting summary of events in the career of the enterprising founder and a photograph of the principals of the establishment are contained in the volume. (16+494 p. 8°.)

A. W. SIJTHOFF, Leyden, will hereafter publish the bibliographical works formerly issued by C. L. Brinkman. The list includes: De Nederlandsche Bibliographie; "Jaarlijksche Lijst van Boeken," etc.; "Brinkman's Catalogus en Repertorium," 1850–82, and 1882–91; "Brinkman's Titel-Catalogus"; "Adresboek vor den Nederl, Boekhandel"; "Kwarto Naamlijsten," 1790–1875; "Lijst van overgegane Fondsartikeln, 1883–87"; and "Bibliographie der Technische Kunsten en Wetenschappen, 1876." The monthly, annual, and decennial catalogues will be continued under the editorial supervision of R. van der Meulen, who has for years been connected with the work on these publications.

Bibliographica, that sumptuous and valuable repository of information concerning books, their history and art, is nearing completion, two more parts being necessary to complete the second and last volume. The tenth part, recently issued, maintains a high level of excellence, and has a marked English interest. Cyril Davenport supplies a readable paper on the bindings of Samuel Mearne and his school; the early English writing-masters, some of whom acquired fortunes by their manuals and otherwise, are reviewed by Edward F. Strange; Alfred W. Pollard treats of some pictorial and heraldic initials, especially English; and Henry R. Plomer and Edward Arber have kindred themes—the one in his "References to Books in the Reports of the Historical MSS. Commissioners," and the other in his "Contemporary Printed Lists of Books Produced in England." Mr. Arber seeks to convey some idea of the bounds of knowledge of English book production, of which so much has perished altogether, and arranges chronologically such lists as early controversial writers indulged in, and such attempts as were from time to time made to record the current issues of the press. He thus enumerates down to the present century upwards of fifty bibliographies, the first serial being a solitary half-yearly catalogue for 1618–1619. Extraordinary value attaches to the Thomason collection of civil-war tracts, 130,000 in number, now in the British Museum, all exactly dated and catalogued in manuscript, but never yet "adequately worked, whether for historical or for bibliographical purposes." Two papers on "Little Books" and on "The Books of the Carthusians" are both important and attractive. The remaining articles in this part are "On Two Plates in Sotheby's 'Principia Typographica,'" by Robert Proctor; "Some Pictorial and Heraldic Initials," described by Alfred W. Pollard; and a notice of Tuer's "History of the Horn-Book."

CATALOGUES OF NEW AND SECOND-HAND BOOKS.—William Evarts Benjamin, 10 W. 22d Street, N. Y., Americana. (No. 77, 32 p. sq. 8°.)—Bowers & Loy, 10 Park Place, N. Y., American history and literature. (No. 10, 625 titles.)—H. W. Bryant, Portland, Me., Local history and miscellaneous. (No. 3, 146 titles.)—U. Hoepli, Milan, Italy, Incunabula, Aldines, etc. (No. 109, 508 titles.)—Lemcke & Buechner, 812 Broadway, New York, Monthly Bulletin of World Literature. (September.)—Joseph McDonough, 53 State St., Albany, N. Y., Clearance sale of miscellaneous books. (No. 114, 771 titles.)—David Nutt, 270 Strand, W. C., London, Greek and Latin authors. (No. 73, 1172 titles.)—Henry Stevens, Son & Stiles, 39 Great Russell Street, London, Books and pamphlets relating to America. (No. 55, 307 titles.)

OBITUARY NOTES.

FRANÇOIS FÉLIX TISSERAND, the celebrated astronomer, died in Paris on the 20th inst. He was born in Paris, January 15, 1845, and was the author of a number of works pertaining to his profession.

MRS. WALTER M. FLEMING, who for many years contributed prose and poetry to the magazines under the pseudonym of "Rose Rayland," died in New York City, October 11, aged 51 years.

NOTES ON AUTHORS.

DR. BENSON at the time of his death had in the press a work on St. Cyprian, which may be expected shortly. The proof-sheets had been corrected and the preface supplied by Dr. Benson just previous to his visit to Ireland.

WHISTLER is preparing a new edition of "The Gentle Art of Making Enemies." The volume is not to be a mere reprint of his first and now much sought after publication, but a considerably enlarged collection of his witticisms.

EDWARD W. BOK, editor and part owner of The Ladies' Home Journal, was married on the 22d inst. to Miss Mary Louise Curtis, daughter of Cyrus H. K. Curtis, chief proprietor of that publication. The ceremony was performed at Mr. Curtis's country seat, Wyncote, Pa., in the presence of a few relatives and friends.

JOURNALISTIC NOTES.

GEORGE W. CABLE is editor and publisher of a new literary monthly entitled The Symposium.

SOME of the most Parisian of all French journalists—Albert Wolff, Scholl, Coppée, Labiche, Déroulède, were or are Germans. Coppée's name was Koppe, Labiche's was Labischin, and Déroulède's was David Ruhleder. Several of these men are notorious Chauvinists and German-haters.

The Academy, of London, will pass into the hands of a new proprietor next month. Mr. Cotton, the present editor, will be succeeded by Lewis Hind, formerly editor of The Pall Mall Budget, who, it is reported, will introduce some of the features of that publication, including pictures, into The Academy.

BUSINESS NOTES.

ASHEVILLE, N. C.—F. F. Bainbridge, late of the firm of Bainbridge Corner, San Antonio, Texas, has opened a book and stationery store at 18 South Main St.

CLEBURN, TEX.—L. S. Gooding, bookseller, has filed a trust deed, with J. H. Dixon trustee, with preferred creditors to the amount of $530.

COLUMBUS, O.—D. H. Gard, bookseller, etc., has made an assignment.

DAUPHIN, MAN.—Mr. Rintoul will open a book-store here.

GRAND JUNCTION, COL.—W. S. Cole, bookseller, has sold out.

LA CROSSE, WIS.—Bailey & Weiss succeed Alexander Forbes's book business.

LE ROY, N. Y.—F. A. Steuber succeeds Steuber & Graves, booksellers.

LITTLE ROCK, ARK.—The Arkansas Educational Publishing Company has been incorporated.

LYONS, IA.—E. E. Holmes, bookseller, has given a bill of sale for $1200.

MATTOON, ILL.—F. C. Hills & Co., booksellers, have dissolved partnership.

NEW YORK CITY.—R. R. Henderson, for many years in the stationery trade, has opened an engraving and plate printing establishment at 167 William St., where he will cater to the wants of the trade.

NEW YORK CITY.—The sheriff is in possession of the office of the Kittridge Company, publishers, at No. 13 Astor Place, on two attachments for $14,643, and one from H. H. Hutching for $971. The company a year ago became temporarily embarrassed and a receiver was appointed, but in two weeks matters were straightened out and the company was reorganized. The attachments were obtained on the ground that the company is a foreign corporation. The liabilities are about $50,000.

NEW YORK CITY.—In regard to the proposed settlement of the affairs of A. D. F. Randolph & Co., Melvin G. Palliser, attorney for the assignee, makes the following report: "The agreement has been signed by creditors representing claims amounting to $95,833.70, thus assuring the carrying out of the composition agreement. Furthermore, creditors having claims amounting to about $10,000 have also signified their intention of signing the agreement, but have not as yet done so. The corporation to continue the business has been organized, and is prepared on the receipt of the assets from the assignee to issue stock as agreed upon, and the necessary application to the court to sanction the transfer will be made in a very short time." The creditors were called upon to file proof of their claims with the attorneys for the assignee on or before October 31, 1896.

NEVADA, MO.—S. H. Mellott, bookseller, has been succeeded by J. W. Bunn.

NICHOLASVILLE, KY.—J. E. Denman has just opened a book and news stand here.

OTSEGO, N. Y.—Samuel N. Harper now has charge of the corner book-store.

PORTLAND, ME.—Frank B. Clark has leased a large new store, and will remove his book and stationery store to it at once.

PICK-UPS.

BOOKMAKING À LA MODE.—The Baroness Von Horn, at present of Cincinnati, according to the Commercial Tribune of that city, is reported to have said in explanation of her taking up newspaper work: "The truth is, it is the ambition of my life to write a book. I have my title chosen, the dedication written, and the binding selected. In fact, the book is bound. All I have to do now is to write the book. In order to get a thorough drill in writing I have decided to do some newspaper work. I am something of a new woman, and like to earn money."

Short Stories says that a clerk in a large New York book-store reports that, in his zeal to make a sale to a newly-rich pork-packer, he asked his customer, "Are you interested in etchings?" The man with a rope of gold for a watch-chain replied, "Well, I never read any of his works. My wife is the reader of the family, and she knows 'em all." The same magazine states that one of the leading dry-goods houses in the country advertises a bound volume of a monthly magazine in the following terms: "Over eight pounds of choicest reading bound in the usual style—olive-green."

LITERARY AND TRADE NOTES.

BRENTANO'S, 31 Union Square, New York City, have been appointed sole agents of the publications of the American Jewish Historical Society. All orders for the publications should be addressed to them.

LEE & SHEPARD have just ready "On the Staff," by Oliver Optic, a new volume in The Blue and The Gray Series; also, "Tecumseh's Braves," by Everett T. Tomlinson, a new volume in the War of 1812 Series. Both volumes are illustrated.

FREDERICK WARNE & CO. will publish at once in the Public Men of To-Day series a sketch of Grover Cleveland, by James Lowry Whittle, which will be illustrated with two portraits. They will also issue directly the sixth and concluding volume of "The Royal Natural History."

AUGUST BRENTANO, of the firm of Brentano's, and Miss Jennie Kaufman were married on the evening of the 27th inst., by the Rev. Dr. Gottheil, at the home of the bride's father, Gottlieb Kaufman, 43 East 66th Street, New York. A reception and dinner followed the ceremony.

THE PETER PAUL BOOK COMPANY, Buffalo, will soon publish "Kallirrhoe: a dramatic poem," by Philip Becker Goetz, a young writer of increasing reputation, whose verses have appeared at intervals in the magazines and have attracted attention by their seriousness of thought and beauty of expression.

THE Record and Guide, 14 Vesey Street, New York, has just issued the new "Real Property Law" (passed by the New York Legislature last winter, and that went into effect on the 1st inst.), with an analytical appendix by George W. Van Siclen, as an appendix to the second edition of his "Guide to Buyers and Sellers of Real Estate."

THOMAS NELSON & SONS have just ready a copyright book entitled "Around the Hearthstone," being hints to home-builders on upwards of a hundred such homely subjects as "the education of girls," "making and unmaking of temper," "how to bring up a boy," "gumption," "our taxes," "the value of seconds," etc., by William M. Thayer, author of "Success and Its Achievers," etc.

ARTHUR GRAY & CO., 105 Maiden Lane, New York, have just issued an attractive little volume entitled "Tobacco in Song and Story." The book, as its title implies, appeals to the adorers of "My Lady Nicotine," and contains, in addition to the classical and forgotten literature on the subject of the "weed," many original sketches, stories, and poems. A number of appropriate illustrations embellish the text.

THE OXFORD UNIVERSITY PRESS have been selected by the General Assembly's Hymnal Committee to print and publish the "Book of Praise" for the Presbyterian Church of Canada. The "Book of Praise" will be issued with and without music in ten different editions, some of them on Oxford India paper. The Oxford University Press assumes all expenses and risks of producing, advertising, and selling the book.

THE EXCELSIOR PUBLISHING HOUSE, New York, now include in their Little Giant Library

the following useful and handy little manuals: "Book-Keeping at a Glance," by an Expert; "The Expert Calculator," by John D. Haney; "How to Pronounce 10,000 Difficult Words," by F. M. Payne; and "Excelsior Webster's Dictionary," also by F. M. Payne. The volumes are attractively gotten up and are bound in cloth and leather.

WILLIAM WOOD & COMPANY have just published "A Text-Book of Diseases of the Nose and Throat," by Francke Huntington Bosworth, M.D., of New York. This work is a revised condensation of the author's former book in two volumes on the same subject. They have also just ready a fifth edition of Delafield's and Prudden's "Pathological Anatomy," etc., revised and enlarged, and superbly illustrated in black and colors. They will shortly publish a "Treatise on Diseases of the Stomach," by Dr. Max Einhorn, of New York, a pupil of the celebrated Prof. Ewald, of Berlin.

EDWARD ARNOLD will launch his new series of sporting works, known as the Sportsman's Library, with Sir Thomas Smith's "Life of a Fox," with illustrations by the author and six colored plates by Jalland. This volume will contain both of Smith's published works — "The Life of a Fox" and "The Diary of a Huntsman." The author's reputation as a huntsman, as well as his gift of literary expression and his skill as a spirited draughtsman, made these books exceedingly popular in their day, and they have now become very rare. The book will be published about November 1.

A. C. ARMSTRONG & SON will publish shortly (simultaneously with its issue in London) the important art work, "Meissonier: his life and his art," by Vallery C. O. Gréard, of the French Academy, with extracts from the painter's notebooks and his opinions and impressions on art and artists, collected by Madame Meissonier, under whose superintendence the book has been prepared. The work will be a large royal octavo volume, with over 200 illustrations in the text, printed in black and tint, and 40 full-page plates, partly in photogravure and partly in color. Besides the regular edition at a moderate price there will be a limited édition de luxe on Japanese vellum, with duplicate plates, on India paper.

THE MACMILLAN COMPANY, in order to prevent confusion, and as far as possible to anticipate further questions, is calling attention to the fact that the title of Miss Margaret Sherwood's new book, which was announced as "An Experiment in Egoism," has been changed to "A Puritan Bohemia." The reason for the change is not mentioned, but is supposedly due to the idea that the first presents a too strong antithesis to the title of an earlier book, also published by the Macmillans, named "An Experiment in Altruism." The Bohemia described is in one of the great studio buildings, found in almost any large city, wherein women do their life's work as art teachers, students, or artists with varying degrees of success, but with compensations in independence and pleasant companionships. They have just ready "Gaston de Latour," a romance of Walter Pater's, that he left unfinished, which will complete the series of his collected writings; and "A Book of Scoundrels," by Charles Whibley. This house will shortly issue "The Works and Letters of Lord Byron," edited by W. E. Henley.

FOREIGN NOTES.

"INVECTIVES" is the title of a slim little posthumous volume by Paul Verlaine, which is described by a Paris correspondent as "the modern 'Dunciad'."

LONGMANS, GREEN & CO. have in press two posthumous books by the late George John Romanes. One is a volume of essays, to be edited by Prof. Lloyd Morgan, of Bristol, dealing with such general subjects as primitive natural history, man and brute, mental differences between men and women, hydrophobia and the muzzling order. The other is a selection from his poems, with an introduction by his Oxford friend, T. Herbert Warren, president of Magdalen.

THE forger of the Luther autographs referred to in former issues of the WEEKLY was arrested in Berlin. His name is given as Hermann Kyrieleis, and his accomplice is said to be his wife. For some time the couple have sold to antiquarians and collectors a large number of these forgeries, which were cleverly inserted in Bibles and books of a religious character printed in Luther's day. It is strange that it should not have occurred to the victims that so large a number of Luther souvenirs could not possibly have remained in the possession of any one person until the present day unknown to the dealers who have made a specialty of Lutherana.

IT is now definitely stated that the executors of William Morris will close the Kelmscott Press as soon as the works already in hand are completed. The last book to be issued from the famous press will be "The Sundering Flood," a short tale, which Morris finished a few weeks before his death. Aymer Vallance, a well-known disciple of Morris, has in preparation a work on his master, which will be an elaborate survey of his work as "an industrial and decorative artist, preserver (as distinguished from 'restorer') of ancient monuments, and general worker in the æsthetic movement of the day." The book will be abundantly illustrated, some of the plates being fac-similes of drawings by the artist himself. A complete bibliography, including the works printed at the Kelmscott Press, will be given in the volume.

THE first part of the "List of Private Libraries," compiled by G. Hedeler, of Leipzig, will be ready in December. It will include more than 500 important private collections of the United States and Canada. The information as to the number of volumes, the principal features, etc., of the separate collections are furnished, almost without exception, by the owners thereof. The subject index appended enables the reader to determine at a glance which collectors devote themselves to each of the specialties indexed. The second part, in preparation, will contain about the same number of important private libraries in Great Britain. The owners of libraries with whom Mr. Hedeler has been unable to communicate are requested to furnish him with details as to the extent of their libraries and their specialties, so that they may be included in the list about to be published.

TERMS OF ADVERTISING.

Under the heading "Books Wanted," subscribers only are entitled to a free insertion of five lines for books out of print, exclusive of address (in any issue except special numbers), to an extent not exceeding 100 lines a year. If more than five lines are sent, the excess is at 10 cents per line, and amount should be enclosed. Bids for current books and such as may be easily had from the publishers, and repeated matter, as well as all advertisements from non-subscribers, must be paid for at the rate of 10 cents per line.

Under the heading "Books for Sale," the charge to subscribers and non-subscribers is 10 cents per line for each insertion. No deduction for repeated matter.

Under the heading "Situations Wanted," subscribers are entitled to one free insertion of five lines. For repeated matter and advertisements of non-subscribers the charge is 10 cents per line.

All other small advertisements will be charged at the uniform rate of 10 cents per line. Eight words may be reckoned to the line.

American Book-Prices Current for 1896.

American Book-Prices Current: A Record of Books, Manuscripts, and Autographs sold in New York, Boston, Philadelphia, and Cincinnati, from September 1, 1895, to September 1, 1896, with prices realized. Compiled from the auctioneers' catalogues by LUTHER S. LIVINGSTON. 8vo, buckram, gilt top, $6.00, net.

The new volume of American Book-Prices Current comprises 7411 lots, being nearly 25 per cent. more than were taken account of in the volume for 1895. That volume was modelled exactly upon the English publication of the same name, the arrangement being chronological by sales, but in the present volume the arrangement is alphabetical, all copies of the same book appearing together. The autographs and manuscripts are in a separate alphabet. The names of authors are printed in black-faced type and the titles of the books in small capitals, thus aiding the eye and brightening the page. There is a chronological list of sales, a short introduction, and a classified index of 37 pages.

600 copies have been printed from type by John Wilson & Son, at the University Press, of which only 575 will be offered for sale and no second edition will be made. The volume for 1895 was printed in an edition of 400 copies, and was exhausted and selling at a premium within three months of publication. Advance orders have come in so freely for this second volume that it is expected quickly to go out of print also.

COMMENDATIONS OF THE PREVIOUS VOLUME.

"It is indeed an important beginning, that cannot fail to receive approbation and financial support."—Publishers' Weekly.

"This is the first volume of what promises to be an extremely useful series."—New York Times.

"The book is thoroughly well indexed, and is, on the whole, a most satisfactory firstling"—The Critic.

"I beg to congratulate you on the success of your 'Book-Prices Current.'"—OTTO HARRASSOWITZ, Leipzig.

HIS LATEST AND BEST STORY.

We have here a romance, laid for the most part in Deal, a small village lying on the eastern coast of England. It introduces us to a people whose avocations are those of the sea—the sailor, the fisherman—and their wives and sweethearts.

There is manifested in a picturesque and poetic manner the love the author has for the ocean, and he knows her, knows her intimately in her every mood—calm, sullen, tempestuous. So great is the charm of his descriptions that the reader is imbued with the same passion, and he ever after contemplates her with different eyes.

Illustrated Christmas Number

is the best Christmas advertiser for those booksellers who want to reach a wider circle than more expensive publications permit. It is a 32-page issue, fully illustrated, attractively printed, with a colored-paper cover, and gives a bird's-eye view of the new books, priced lists, etc., etc.

The prices for this publication, with booksellers' own imprints, are: per 100, $5; per 250, $10; per 500, $17.50; and per 1000, $33; payable in advance, postage or freight extra.

Copy for imprint, together with full directions for forwarding, must accompany the order. All packages for which no other shipping directions are given will be sent by express.

THE LITERARY NEWS,

59 Duane Street,

P. O. Box 943. New York.

Christmas.

The most representative of the Christmas issues of advertising mediums, for publishers and booksellers, having no special interests to represent, giving best value to both advertisers and dealers, and out first, is the Christmas issue of THE PUBLISHERS' WEEKLY.

As usual, this publication will contain special articles on leading books, the finest specimen illustrations from others, full descriptive summary of new books and novelties, reference price-lists covering the ILLUSTRATED WORKS, BOOKS FOR THE YOUNG, and other CHOICE BOOKS published during 1896, etc. The cover will be tasteful and printed in several colors.

The "Bookshelf" is furnished at the earliest possible date, and is delivered strictly in the order in which the orders for it are received. As paper is made for it, and the edition limited, word as to the quantities desired should reach us promptly.

The prices are for the thin-paper edition, with dealer's imprint:

Per 100 Copies,	$10.00
" 250 "	20.00
" 500 "	38.00
" 1000 "	75.00

A small edition is printed on thick paper, with dealer's imprint, at $20.00 per 100 copies.

To avoid delay, it is absolutely necessary that copy for imprint, together with full directions for forwarding, should accompany the order. All packages sent by express unpaid, unless other shipping directions are given.
